Antecedentes

En el 2006, el Consejo para la Alimentación y Agricultura (FAO) de la Organización de las Naciones Unidas, recomendó, junto con las medidas para la reducción de riesgos de plaguicidas, considerar también una prohibición progresiva de plaguicidas altamente peligrosos. PAN International acoge esa recomendación.

Un comité de expertos de la FAO, la Organización Mundial de Salud (OMS) y el Joint Meeting on Pesticide Management (JMPPM), desarrolló en consecuencia una lista de criterios como base para poder identificar a los plaguicidas altamente peligrosos.

Un mundo sano para todos. Proteger a los seres humanos y al medio ambiente de los plaguicidas. Promover alternativas.
